State fact sheets for grandparents and other relatives raising children

AARP, The Brookdale Foundation Group, Casey Family Programs, Child Welfare League of America, Children's Defense Fund, and Generations United have partnered to produce state and national GrandFacts fact sheets for grandparents and other relatives raising children. The state fact sheets include state-specific data and programs as well as information about foster care, public benefits, educational assistance and state laws. Visit www.grandfactsheets.org to find this and all GrandFacts state fact sheets.

Delaware

The Children

- 24,594 children under age 18 live in homes where the householders are grandparents or other relatives (12% of all children in the state.) (U.S. 2010 Census)
 - Of these, 19,001 live with grandparents who are the householders (9.27% of the children in the state) and 5,593 live with other relatives who are the householders (2.7% of the children in the state). (U.S. 2010 Census)
- 8,182 children live in homes with grandparent householders where grandparents are responsible for them.*
 - Of these children, 3,058 have no parents present in the home.*

The Grandparents*

- 7,551 grandparents are the householders and are responsible for their grandchildren living with them. Of these:
 - 54% of the grandparents are White and not Hispanic, 36% are Black/African American, 1% are Asian, and 7% are Hispanic/Latino, and may be of any race.
 - 40% have no parents of the children present in the home.
 - 67% are under age 60.
 - 12% live in poverty.

*Comparable data are not currently available for homes where other relatives are the householders.

100% of poverty level.

Data not specifically cited are taken from the U.S. Census Bureau 2005-2009 American Community Survey 5-Year Estimates, Detailed Table B09006 and Subject Tables S1001 and S1002. Additional data on related topics and sub-state areas can be found on the Census Bureau website at <http://factfinder.census.gov>

Programs That Can Help

Local programs that provide support, resources and assistance to grandfamilies can often be found by contacting your local school, area agency on aging, community center, faith-based organization or children's services office.

The AARP GrandCare Support Locator is a free online service where programs can self-list their services and resources. Search by your city, state or zip code. www.giclocalsupport.org

Children in Foster Care

- Sometimes state child welfare agencies place children in foster care with grandparents or other relatives. This is often called “kinship care.”
- Federal law requires states to notify all known relatives within 30 days of children’s removal from their parents.

In January 2011 in Delaware:

- 674 children/youth spent some time in out-of-home care
- 65 of these children/youth were placed in non-certified relative/kinship care

Placement Policies

- State policy requires that kin be considered first for out-of-home placements.
- There is no separate licensing program for kinship foster parents.
- Kin must meet the same licensing standards and requirements and receive the same foster care payment rate as non-kin foster parents.
- Any person applying to become a foster parent must complete 27 hours of pre-service training. Additional parent training required each year.

Subsidized Guardianship

Delaware does not currently have a subsidized guardianship program.

Public Benefits

Federal and state public benefits programs can help with income, food, healthcare, home energy, telephone and other needs for those who are eligible. Eligibility requirements vary with each public benefit and sometimes are different from state to state. Some benefits are for the family and others are for children or older adults individually. Children are often eligible for public benefits even if their caregivers do not have legal guardianship or custody. Grandparents may become eligible for benefits programs when their household size increases.

Educational Enrollment

Relative caregivers can contact their local school district's administrative office or their local school to find out how to register the child and what paperwork is needed. Caregivers may need birth records, health records or previous school records. Some states have laws that allow relative caregivers to enroll children they are raising in school. These laws are often called "education consent" laws, but may be called something else in your state.

Early Intervention, Special Education and Related Services

What you need to know:

- The Federal Individuals with Disabilities Act \(IDEA\) - From birth to age 21, children who have learning disabilities, physical disabilities or other special needs may be able to get special early intervention, preschool and special education services in school through the federal IDEA. Services may include speech, physical, and occupational therapies.

- Child Find – A part of the IDEA that requires states to identify, locate and evaluate children in the areas of cognitive and physical functioning, hearing and vision, speech and language and social and emotional development as early as possible. Once the Child Find evaluation team, which includes a child's caregivers, has decided if a child is eligible for early intervention or preschool special education services, an Individual Family Service Plan (IFSP; birth to three years of age) or an Individual Education Plan (IEP; three to five years of age) is developed and services begin shortly at no cost.
