

GrandFacts

State fact sheets for grandparents and other relatives raising children

AARP, The Brookdale Foundation Group, Casey Family Programs, Child Welfare League of America, Children's Defense Fund, and Generations United have partnered to produce state and national GrandFacts fact sheets for grandparents and other relatives raising children. The state fact sheets include state-specific data and programs as well as information about foster care, public benefits, educational assistance and state laws. Visit www.grandfactsheets.org to find this and all GrandFacts state fact sheets.

Children in Foster Care

- Sometimes state child welfare agencies place children in foster care with grandparents or other relatives. This is often called “kinship care.”
- Federal law requires states to notify all known relatives within 30 days of children’s removal from their parents.

In 2010 in Ohio:

- 11,721 children/youth spent some time in out-of-home care
- 1,640 of these children were placed in approved relative/kinship care

In 2009 in Ohio:

- 7,954 kids were supported by the Kinship Permanency Incentive Program (see below)

Placement Policies

- State policy requires that kin be considered first when an out-of-home placement is sought for a child under the Department’s care.
- There is no separate licensing program for kinship foster parents.
- Kinship caregivers may choose to go through a less stringent approval process focused on basic health and safety criteria. These approved (but not licensed) caregivers receive support services with a lower cash benefit.

Kinship Permanency Incentive Program

- Limited incentive payments to families caring for relative children who are judged by the court to have been abused, neglected, dependent or unruly.
- Caregivers who have been awarded legal custody or guardianship of a child on or after July 1, 2005 are eligible to apply
- Initial payment is $525 followed by $300 payment every 6 months
- To receive cash payments, eligible families must not earn more than 300% of federal poverty guidelines, must apply through their county public children services agency, complete a family home study and criminal background check.

Subsidized Guardianship

Ohio does not have a statewide subsidized guardianship program but some counties offer their own programs.

Public Benefits

Federal and state public benefits programs can help with income, food, healthcare, home energy, telephone and other needs for those who are eligible. Eligibility requirements vary with each public benefit and sometimes are different from state to state. Some benefits are for the family and others are for children or older adults individually. Children are often eligible for public benefits even if their caregivers do not have legal guardianship or custody. Grandparents may become eligible for benefits programs when their household size increases.

Help with Public Benefits

AARP Foundation's Benefits QuickLINK

A free and private way to find out if relatives or the children they are raising qualify for programs that pay for food, increase income and cover home and healthcare costs (listed below). It gives quick results, application forms and the address and phone number of the closest office.

- Medicaid for Aged, Blind, and Disabled
- Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)
- Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC)
- Low Income Home Energy Assistance (LIHEAP)
- State Property Tax Relief/Rebates
- Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- Telephone Assistance (Link-Up and Lifeline)

Public Benefits for Families Raising Children*

- Medicaid for Children
- State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP)
- TANF-Child Only Grants
- Supplemental Security Income for Children

*Some of these programs may have age and income restrictions.

Educational Enrollment

Relative caregivers can contact their local school district's administrative office or their local school to find out how to register the child and what paperwork is needed. Caregivers may need birth records, health records or previous school records. Some states have laws that allow relative caregivers to enroll children they are raising in school. These laws are often called "education consent" laws, but may be called something else in your state.

Early Intervention, Special Education and Related Services

What you need to know:

- The Federal Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA) - From birth to age 21, children who have learning disabilities, physical disabilities or other special needs may be able to get special early intervention, preschool and special education services in school through the federal IDEA. Services may include speech, physical, and occupational therapies.
- Child Find – A part of the IDEA that requires states to identify, locate and evaluate children in the areas of cognitive and physical functioning, hearing and vision, speech and language and social and emotional development as early as possible. Once the Child Find evaluation team, which includes a child's caregivers, has decided if a child is eligible for early intervention or preschool special education services, an Individual Family Service Plan (IFSP; birth to three years of age) or an Individual Education Plan (IEP; three to five years of age) is developed and services begin shortly at no cost.
